Lake Superior State University's 1997 List of Words Banished from the Queen's English

YMM (FIRE "Overused on TV talk shows and now it's everywhere." Lillie Taylor, Milwaukee, Wisconsin

aromatherapy

"This catchy word can be found on the labels of everything from shampoo bottles to air fresheners. If it's truly 'therapy', perhaps it should come at a higher price." Michelle Batterbee Fox, Ellsworth School teacher, Ellsworth, Michigan

"It may be alright when applied to computers, but not humans," Polly Fields, LSSU English professor one game at a time "There being no alternative, our overpaid athletes can safely offer to do at least this much." Jack Dietrich, Albuquerque, NM.

PHONE TAG

"It may have been a cool, trendy phrase in the 80s, but it is really annoying now." Mark Terwilliger, LSSU math professor

"I am president and founder of the International Order for the Abolition of the Word Sloppy Joe. Its goal is to ban Sloppy Joe, Common Joe, Joe Blow... It gives Joes a bad name. You never hear of a Sloppy Steve, Ruth etc. Joes should never be lumped together as common or everyday. I therefore nominate 'Joe Sixpack'. Man on the street is good enough." Joe Gallagher, Port Huron Michigan.

(Ed. note: According to our Canadian neighbors, the Canadian equivalent to Joe Sixpack is "Joe Lunchbucket." This would be included in the banishment.)

Paper or Plastic?

"Are they talking about payment or package totes?"

Paul D. Freedman, Sault Ste. Marie, Michigan

AS IN. "She's the winningest coach in history.

Used with the hated he goes/she goes.' For example: "My son dashes into the room and he goes, 'Dad! Dad!' and I'm like, 'What?' What?' The perpetrators of such babble should be locked together in a room, with their baseball caps riveted bill forward." Allen C. Myers, senior editor, Wm. B. Eerdmans Publishing C., Grand Rapids, Michigan

Slang expression used when someone has stated something obvious, or something dumb. May be used interchangeably with "DUH," another expression which was nominated by many.

"A worn out phrase which has somehow escaped the list until new." Chris Gailus, Channel 3 News Guy, Calgary, Alberta

Received the most nominations."Whatever what? Whatever I want? Whatever I need? It doesn't make any sense." Rachel Bivens, Manton High School student, Manton, Michigan

DON'T GO THERE

Another gift from the talk show circuit. "Go where? Do what?" Pellston High School Creative Writing Class, Pellston, Michigan

La Macarena "Ad nauseam." Robert Sutherland, London, Ontario

Doing the

"Mom thing, Dad thing, Kid thing, Right thing, Word Banishment thing" Nominated for overuse and uselessness by Susan Elek, St. Clement Catholic High School English teacher, Center Line, Michigan burning bridges

"The 1996 elections have voters tired of hearing the many 'bridge' metaphors from politicians. 'Building bridges to a vibrant future.' or the past... I think some bridges should be burned." Donna Gayon, Perry High School teacher, Perry, Michigan

"This groveling by callers to talk shows accomplishes nothing, wastes time and places the talk show host and guests in an (undeserved) superior position." Dan McManman, Nomad Lake Superior Charters, Ironwood Michigan

"A euphemism for an overbearingly aggressive nature." Byron R. Crary, Clark Lake,

Iti-tasking

"Big business word for having parts or supplies produced by another company." Tory Cook, MCTV reporter, Sault Ste. Marie, Ontario.

Public Relations Office Lake Superior State University Sault Ste. Marie, MI 49783 www.lssu.edu

Send nominations at anytime to

"Doing several things at once said it all." Donna Gayon, Perry High School teacher, Perry, Michigan