Email update Oct. 20, 2023

Dear Campus Community:

Greetings to all. This is another in a series of updates intended to keep you informed about the work of the Presidential Search Committee. The search is progressing well and on schedule.

The committee members met earlier this week to discuss our progress and to initiate the systematic review of applications. This initial review, the first of several stages in the candidate vetting process, will continue throughout the fall and winter.

The multi-faceted process of building a strong and diverse pool of well-qualified candidates is ongoing. We ask once more for your help in identifying promising prospects or people who might be able to suggest such prospects. Please reach out to our consulting team, Julie Tea, Brian Bustin, and Abby Kalin of Storbeck Search, at LSSUPresident@storbecksearch.com with names and contact information related to any potential candidates. The nominations and suggestions that we receive from those closest to the LSSU community may be among the most meaningful in the process of candidate generation.

The committee members will meet again in mid-November to begin reducing the pool of applicants to a smaller group for further review and evaluation.

The search prospectus continues to be available for your review on the University's Presidential Search website and Storbeck Search site.

On behalf of the search committee, I will share additional periodic updates with you throughout the process. Please feel free to reach me with any questions at lakestatepresidentsearch@lssu.edu. Thank you for your support.

Best Regards,

Cindy
